

Benjamin Tallmadge District Training

Den Chief Training

A Den Chief is a Boy Scout who assists a Cub Scout or Webelos Scout den. A role model for the boys in the den & the pack, he promotes Scouting and facilitates the transition of Cub Scouts into the Boy Scout program. The Den Chief understands the Cub Scouting program and the differences between it & the Boy Scout program. A Boy Scout who completes this training session will be more effective in his Den Chief position by having a clear understanding of his role & responsibilities as well as that of the Den Leader. This is a position of responsibility and it can fulfill requirements for Boy Scout advancement with the Scoutmaster's approval. Although the training is designed for Den Chiefs, adult leaders who will work with them are also encouraged to attend so they better understand the role too.
